

It was recently brought to my attention that the FCC is planning on giving LPFM stations priority over FM translator services. I will admit up front that I only understand the negative impact this will have on K-LOVE radio stations, so I will limit my commentary to the positive impact K-LOVE has made on my family over the past few years. I will comment on 3 areas as requested by K-LOVE:

1) How K-LOVE serves me as a resident of the local community:

First let me start by saying that it is tough to find good local Christian Radio Stations anywhere in the United States, which is where K-LOVE comes in as a viable substitute for positive and encouraging music and commentary. I have lived in 4 states in the past 5 years and have always enjoyed my commute to work more during those times K-LOVE was available on the radio.

2) The effect to the local community if K-LOVE were displaced.

When I lived in Raleigh, NC, K-LOVE was the only Christian Radio Station I could find for my commute to work. If K-LOVE was forced off the air by an LPFM station in that particular circumstance, then I would be without the uplifting music that helped me survive my daily commute.

3) Why I believe the service provided by K-LOVE is in the public's best interest?

I believe that K-LOVE offers a great mixture of uplifting music and positive commentaries that reach a variety of people as they sit in an ever increasing commute. In many cases they are the only provider of this type of media and engaging in legislation that removes them from the air should only be done as a last resort.

Thank you for your time,
